A GOOD RAIN
Last night about 8 o'clock this section was visited by the best rain this season, and not a drop too much fell. All growing vegetation was badly in need of moisture, and this rain came just in time to revive all crops. And it made a tobacco "season" that will enable the farmers to get out their entire crop, provided sufficient help can be secured.

JOHN W. LUMAN

At One Time One of This City's Most Popular Motormen Dies at Newport.

Who does not remember happy, jolly "Jum" Luman?

A number of years ago, in fact, when Maysville's pride carried it to street cars,—the mule moved—John W. Luman was one of the front-end men.

When they changed hands and were converted to the invisible mule power John Luman was there at the controller.

And for many years, in and out of season, his familiar figure was almost a fixture.

But he saw bigger things, and went to Newport, where he took charge of a controller on the electric lines there and served faithfully all these years up to a few weeks ago, when he was compelled to give up and take his bed, where he gradually grew worse until Sunday when his spirit took its flight to that bourne from whence no traveler returns.

John W. Luman was born and reared in this city, and was 48 years of age.

He married Miss Kate Wheeler, to which union a daughter was born, who, with her mother, survive.

The funeral will occur this afternoon at his late home, 430 West Eleventh street, Newport.

Several relatives and numerous friends are survivors in this city.

FREIGHT WRECK AT UPPER LOOP

C. & O. freight No. 905 derailed one empty freight car while backing over the cross over at the Fair Grounds last evening about 11 o'clock. The damage sustained was estimated at about $50 to the car and $100 or more to the loop.

The Silver Grove tool cars arrived later in the night rapidly cleaned the wreckage away.

DICE-ZORNS

Mr. William R. Dice, age 23, and Miss Elizabeth Zorns, age 21, both of Maysville were married by Judge H. P. Purnell yesterday.

GERMANS LOSE HEAVILY IN NEW DRIVE ON PARIS

PAY FOR SLIGHT GAINS BY GREAT TOLL OF TROOPS—ALLIES HOLD LINES IN SEVEREST FIGHTING OF WAR.

German Hordes Slaughtered as They Advance—Villages Change Hands Several Times, and Advance is Not Taken by Either Side — American Lines Penetrate Hun Lines.

With the American Army in France, June 10—The United States marines attacked the Germans after daybreak this morning and penetrated the German lines for about two-thirds of a mile on a 600-yard front in the Belleau wood, northwest of Chateau Thierry. The Germans now hold only the northern edge of the wood. The Americans captured two machine-guns which are the largest pieces yet taken by them.

With the French Army in France, June 10—At the conclusion of the first 24 hours of the new battle between Montdidier and the Oise, the impression gained is that the powerful German smash has not brought the enemy the result he expected. The Allied line is bent in the center quite insignificantly and the resistance the French are offering on the actual position of the combat, appears to be effective.

Extreme violence was the dominant note of the battle on the first day and desperate assaults with huge masses of troops, seem likely to continue for at least some days.

With the concentration of troops, such as the Germans had been enabled to bring into the line at the point chosen for the attack, it was physically impossible for the defenders to resist in their advanced positions.

When the masses of German infantry came over, the Entente Allied troops, spread lightly in the forward works, fell back coolly, fighting yard by yard to the actual line of resistance. They held back the enemy just sufficiently to make him show his strength and to permit the main body of the defenders to make the proper disposition to meet him.

Only at one point was the real French line forced to recede and that was in the neighborhood of Ressons-Sur-Matz.

After the German infantry has started, four hours of the most intense fighting had brought them only partly across the Allied advance zone. They were battered thoroughly by the Allied artillery whose target was so plain that the enemy's losses must have been frightful, with very little to compensate him for his sacrifices.

With the French Army in France, June 10—(Noon)—Fighting in this war probably never has been more severe than that going on today, in the great battle of Montdidier and Noyon. The Germans attacking on a ground where the Allies were ready to receive the shock have found themselves thrown into a slaughter house whence most of them never will make an exit.

When the German infantry began coming over in the densest masses they encountered immediately an extremely hot fire from both machine guns and artillery, which mowed them down. As fresh waves entered the conflict, they were subjected to similar punishment.

The German progress must not be taken to mean that the German forces have overcome the defenders, who intended from the beginning to retire to their actual lines of combat as soon as the action developed.

Some idea of the determined nature of the fighting may be gathered from the struggle on each wing. The village of Courcelles changed hands numerous times and, when this dispatch was sent, was in the possession of the Allies. At the other end of the line Monte Renaud was still making a magnificent defense, and last reports showed that Le Fleumont was yet in the Allied hands.

The center about Ressons-Sur-Matz, where the Germans made their most obstinate efforts and formed a pocket extending southeastward, is the only part of the line against which the Germans have been able to report a real gain. Their intention is to try to reach the banks of the Oise and threaten the Allied salient which extends to the vicinity of Noyon.

The Germans knew when they opened the attack that their task would be difficult. Therefore, they sent in to the fray only chosen divisions, which had been specially trained for the assault.

It is estimated that they engaged approximately twenty divisions on the front line for the first shock.

The latest official communication from the German war office says additional ground has been gained by the Germans southwest of Noyon against newly brought up French reinforcements and that the Germans have taken about 8,000 prisoners and some guns. Near Bussare, northwest of Chateau Thierry the Americans and French again have delivered strong attacks against the Germans and taken more ground. They also captured a number of prisoners and machine guns.

On the remainder of the front in France and Belgium the attacks have been of a minor nature, although south of the Somme, the British near Bouzencourt have carried out an operation which straightened out a threatening salient that sagged in their line.

As the Austrians continue to bring large forces of men behind their lines in the Italian theater, the artillery activity and raiding operations are daily increasing. Throughout the mountain region from Tonale to the Brenta river and along the lower reaches of the Piave river the guns of both sides are engaged in violent duels. Numerous surprise attacks have been attempted by the Austrians on various sectors, but all of them were successfully repulsed. Aerial operations on a large scale also are in progress and fights in the air are of daily occurrence. Large quantities of explosives have been dropped on enemy positions by the Italians and a number of enemy aircraft have been shot down.

In the Macedonia theater there also has been an increase in the artillery activity, the enemy bombarding the Allied lines on both sides of the Vardar river. On the part of the front held by the Serbians the artillery fire has been unusually severe.

Official announcement has been the headquarters at London that 238 officers, men, nurses, women of the medical corps and civilians were killed up to June 1 by German air raiders bombing hospitals, and that 643 persons were wounded in these attacks.
